Reading

You are going to read a magazine article in which four people talk about their neighbours. For questions 39-44, choose from the people A-D. A person may be chosen more than once.

Alex

They say "good fences make good neighbours", but this doesn't apply in Mrs Beasley's case, Edwina Beasley has managed to find a way of sticking her busybody nose into my business, though I barely speak a word to her when she starts asking me personal things. She's even taken it upon herself to find me a wife! Imagine my shock, when she knocked on my door last Sunday, in the company of a woman I'd never seen before and told me: "This is Mary Allen, dear. I'm sure you two have a lot in common, so I'll let you get to know each other" And then she left, almost certain that Mary Allen and I will name our first child after her!

Lucy

The truth is I grew up to believe that our neighbours were also our friends, all of us sharing our joys and sorrows as they presented themselves in our small but closely-knit community. Unfortunately, this was not the case in the big city I moved to. I realised that trying to be friends with your neighbours and be there for them in times of need was not always welcome when my next-door neighbour told me to mind my own business and stop trying to control other people's lives. All I had done was knock on her door to see if she was alright on a night I'd heard her crying out loudly!

Helen

Don't get me wrong, I love animals. Be it feathered, furry, two-legged or crawling, I simply adore all creatures. Except one: Mr Watson's poodle, Lulu. Though Mr Watson is a great neighbour, Lulu gets on my nerves so much that I'm seriously thinking of kidnapping her and secretly replacing her with a more tolerable look-alike. Not only does Lulu steal my newspaper every morning, she is also very selective with my friends. Whenever I have friends over that she doesn't like, she will stand outside my door barking or howling for hours if Mr Watson isn't home to come and pick her up. I know you're supposed to "love thy neighbour", but do you have to love his dog too?

Chris

I know you can't really choose your neighbours, but I thought that I had chosen the right ones when I decided to move to a nice, peaceful street where mostly elderly people resided. What I hadn't thought of was that these wonderful, friendly people, who mostly kept to themselves, had children and noisy grandchildren who visited on Sunday mornings. Worst of all, what I didn't know was that the same, seemingly quiet senior citizens would be having band practice every Saturday morning in the house right next to mine. I'm really having second thoughts about this neighbourhood!

Which person

- 39. was misunderstood by a neighbour?.....
- 40. seems more likely to move somewhere else?.....
- 41. has a problem which is not directly related to their neighbour?.....
- 42. has a neighbor who interferes into their social life?.....

The Lowdown on Bullies!!!

At some point in our lives many of us will have to deal with a bully. Yet bullies are not all the same. To be able to handle such a threat, it is important to know what kind of person you are dealing with. The most dangerous and common bully is the aggressive one. Aggressive bullies use the fear of violence to control others. Unfortunately, it doesn't stop there. They are known to quickly lose their temper and harm their victims without ever feeling sorry for them. When faced with such a person, immediately tell a parent or teacher. Furthermore, stay in public places and amongst others for safety. Some people even learn self-defence to protect themselves against this kind of bully. However, violence is not the answer, as it leads to even more violence.

Next, are the verbal bullies. They attack with words and are only happy when others feel hurt. So when an unkind joke is made, show as little reaction as possible and just walk away. Remember, you cannot talk sense to an unreasonable person. And, above all, never make jokes about yourself to prove that nothing can hurt you. This will only encourage them. Last, is the computer bully. The best way to deal with this menace is by deleting their messages. Do not read anything they write and never send a reply. When faced with such a person, it is wise to seriously consider a change of email address. Keep in mind that bullies are simply people who envy the talents of their victims. The only way they can feel powerful is by putting others down. Therefore, never listen to anything they have to say!

39. Computer bullies use very advanced technology.

40. Bullies are jealous of what other people are good at.

41. Aggressive bullies later regret hurting someone.

42. When dealing with an aggressive bully, seek the help of an adult.

43. Humour will keep verbal bullies away.

44. One way to deal with computer bullies is to report them to the police.

Dogs to the Rescue

Dogs are great companions. But did you know that apart from being wonderful pets, these canine friends have made a vast contribution to saving countless lives?

SAR (Search and Rescue) dogs are used in search efforts to find missing people. They are specifically trained to find victims buried under snow or debris, so they can quickly be brought to safety

When it comes to emergency rescues, these dogs are fast and efficient, and their keen sense of smell enables them to locate accident victims much more quickly than humans. Any breed of dog can be trained to be part of SAR rescue missions.

First, they must be people-friendly. This is important, as the missing people they find are strangers, and many times the dogs have to stay with them and care for them until a rescue crew can get to them.

This is because when the puppies are being trained, it is through fun and game techniques that handlers are able to teach the necessary tasks to make them efficient rescuers later on.

Whether SAR dogs and their handlers work for a government agency or are volunteers, they go through extensive training and in many cases, have to pass a certification test. During basic training, the dogs learn how to detect and follow human scents.

Avalanche dogs, for example, need to be able to dig and search in snow in very low temperatures. Other dogs are taught to walk over disaster areas carefully so as not to endanger victims under the debris.

44

Whatever the task, SAR dogs are not only man's best friend, but in life or death situations, they are truly heroes!

- A. An SAR dog will even enter a burning building to save someone's life.
- B. After this, the dogs are taught a variety of tasks to prepare them for different kinds of emergencies.
- C. In snowstorms, earthquakes and landslides, SAR dog teams are usually the first on the scene.

F. You are going to read an article about a popular magazine. For questions 39-44, choose the correct answer A, B, C or D which you think fits best according to the text.

Small change for a Big Difference

Help, in the form of a magazine, is available for homeless people who seek a better existence than the uncertain lives they lead on the streets. The Big Issue is one of the first magazines of its kind and its main concern is to provide income and better chances to those who are homeless or at risk of homelessness. It is sold exclusively by homeless people, who get to keep 80 pence out of the £1.50 that they sell the magazine for. This prized magazine, which offers entertainment as well as the latest news developments, was started by John Bird and Gordon Roddick in 1991. Worried about the enormous number of people living on the streets of London, the two businessmen decided to do something about it. The idea for the magazine arose when Roddick went to New York and came across a newspaper that was sold by homeless people there. Originally, the magazine came out monthly, and was distributed around London. Yet, such was its success, that two years after its first publication, The Big Issue started coming out once a week. Not only that, but shortly later it became available in other areas of England, as well as Scotland and Wales. Today, along with the five local editions that go out to most parts of the UK, the magazine also enjoys international status. The quality of the magazine is very high, as its pages are filled with informative and entertaining articles written by expert reporters. There is also a section where homeless people have their stories and articles published. Not only this, but respected celebrities such as David Beckham and Sir Paul McCartney have at times contributed their thoughts and ideas to the pages of The Big Issue.

The increasing number of homeless people who were willing to participate in the sale of the magazine gave rise to another great idea. In 1995 The Big Issue Foundation was set up. This is a charity organisation, but it is not one that sees the homeless as beggars in need of a few pounds. In the organisation's own words, they are there to help homeless people "off the streets and into a life, that is, training, education, accommodation and transformation."

G. Read and match the sentences A-G with gaps 39-44. There is one extra sentence.

The race is on as to which country will be the first to inhabit the Moon. Apart from the United States, India, China, Japan and Europe plan on sending astronauts to the Moon in the next 20 years. So, a station on the Moon might soon be possible 39 The most obvious include the questions of power, water, air and shelter.

At this time scientists feel that the best place to establish a station would be either at the North or South Pole. Here the temperature does not change as much throughout the day as it does near the equator. 40

At present, NASA is in the process of sending a spacecraft to the Moon. Their high-tech computers will be able to analyse the signals sent back to Earth, providing useful knowledge for the researchers. 41

The search is based on the theory that the comets which have been hitting the Moon over the last 2 billion years have left ice in its craters. 42

Once this is done, the water could be separated into hydrogen and oxygen, providing an atmosphere that can support life. As for the question of material to build shelters, it would be best to get as many resources as possible from the Moon, since the cost of transport is extremely high. 43

Luckily, the Earth's satellite is rich in minerals that could be used to build a future station and even for rocket fuel. Once we inhabit the Moon, who knows? 44

- A. Just think, $400,000 is needed to send an object that weighs around four kilos to the Moon.
- B. All the same, we have not found any evidence that the Moon has water.
- C. Perhaps the human race may be able to live on Mars in the future!
- D. Yet, we must face the fact that before this can happen we have a few problems to deal with.

Slowly, Armstrong was starting to make a name for himself. The highlight of his career was in 1995, when he became the number one cyclist internationally. 40

He was the first cyclist in history to win the prestigious event seven consecutive times. Since then, Armstrong has won countless awards, and become a worldwide celebrity. 44

You are going to read a magazine article about eco-projects. For questions 39-44, choose from the projects A-D. Each project may be chosen more than once.

Monkey Sanctuary, Kruger Park, South Africa

The Kruger Rehabilitation Centre is home to approximately 500 monkeys. At the centre much of your time will be spent caring for ill, injured or orphaned monkeys. Depending upon your skills, you will be expected to do a little general repair work around the centre, but if you don't already possess such abilities, you can learn on the job. Thanks to the fundraising efforts of earlier volunteers we are able to build a number of new facilities. In your spare time you can take advantage of the great location and enjoy spotting the country's wild animals.

Sea Turtle Conservation, Sri Lanka

The Sea Turtle Conservation Project takes care of five different species of sea turtle. On this project most of your time will be spent clearing beaches in time for the turtles to come and lay their eggs there. Unfortunately, the island is still suffering from the damage caused in the 2004 tsunami, so there is plenty of repair work to be done. Yet, if you are looking for a small island with golden sandy beaches, mountains, jungle, welcoming people and you are not afraid of hard work then this is the place for you.

Which project:

39. ...involves providing an education?
40. ...is held at a place in need of major restoration?
41. ...asks participants to help repair existing amenities?
42. ...constructs accommodation for local residents?
43. ...involves looking after the breeding areas of animals?

Bill,

Good to hear from you! Of course I'm happy to share whatever tips and advice I can about planning a gap year. Last year I spent two months in the Brazilian rainforest, working for an environmental organisation. It was a rewarding experience and I'd definitely recommend that you try something similar.

There are many helpful websites for finding cheap accommodation around the world. Also, I know of some programmes that locate jobs for gap year students. But it would help if you told me more. Where exactly in Africa is the project? What sort of work does it involve? Also, have you considered all of the difficulties involved in a project like this? It won't be all fun, you know.

Write back soon with some details of the project, and we can plan it together.

Yours,

Steven

I first met Mrs Ackerman on my first day of school. I was a bit anxious, as I had just changed schools and didn't know any of my classmates. Little did I know then, that Mrs Ackerman would become my all-time favourite teacher.

Mrs Ackerman was middle-aged, but looked much younger because of her freckled face and rosy cheeks. She never wore make-up, and dressed in casual clothing. Amazingly, she looked more like a college student than a teacher!

Mrs Ackerman also had a wonderfully warm personality. She was supportive and always encouraged us to try and do our best. Her lessons were never boring, as her classes were always filled with interesting things to do. We would sing songs, write stories, have puppet shows and every Friday we had storytelling day.

I will always remember Mrs Ackerman, as she taught me the love of learning, something I will always be thankful for.

Hi Greg,

Thanks for dropping me a line. It was great to hear from you after all this time!

As for me, I've been pretty busy lately. I'm studying for exams and working part-time delivering pizza. I've also taken up volleyball, so as you can guess, I'm exhausted. To tell you the truth, I can't wait for the summer break. I could really use the rest.

I've got a great idea! Why don't you visit me this summer? I have the whole summer off, so you can come anytime. I'd love to show you around my town. If you want, we can also spend a few days at my parents' summer house. I know how much you love sports and there are a lot of great things to do there. There's a horse riding club and we could also do some surfing. Best of all, the beach is just a ten-minute walk from the house!

Hope you can come. It'll be lots of fun! Write back soon, Cindy

These days, many people believe that teenagers have more than enough time on their hands.

I strongly disagree with this view, as I believe that teens do not have enough time to relax and enjoy their youth.

Nowadays, there is so much pressure on young adults to succeed that they often take on more than they can handle. For example, many teens are expected to do well at school, participate in sports, as well as help with all the household chores. Moreover, many teenagers have a part-time job and struggle to keep up with their studies, so they experience a great deal of stress trying to manage their time.

However, opponents of this view argue that teens have lots of free time and spend it watching television or playing video games. In particular, they claim that young people are just wasting all this free time they say they have.

All things considered, I believe that teenagers do not have as much free time as is generally believed. They are busy young adults, who could certainly do with a little extra time.

An Extreme Adventure

Last spring, my family and I were on holiday at our summer house near the coast. We were sailing in perfect weather, when out of the blue, we heard a loud noise.

We had hit a rock and our boat started to fill with water and began sinking. Terrified, my mother turned as white as a sheet, and my father shouted "Robbie, grab the lifejackets!" My brother hurried into the cabin below and brought them up. My father immediately made a distress call, but there was no reply; that was when we realised we were in serious danger.

Some minutes later, the water was up to our knees, and with no other boats around and a faulty radio, we had started to lose hope. Just then, we sighted another boat. What we didn't know then was that our distress signal had gone out, and the coastguard was on its way.

After the rescue, we were all relieved to be safe and sound and back on dry land. We all knew how lucky we were to be alive.

Today, with rising living expenses and the high cost of education, more and more students are choosing to study close to home and live with their families in order to save money. This is a practical choice, but are these students missing out on valuable life lessons by not leaving the safety of home?

In my view, living away from home is an important part of the university experience, perhaps just as important as actual studies. For instance, students who must adapt to an unfamiliar environment acquire useful social and domestic skills. In addition, the challenge of living alone can help young people to develop a more independent and responsible character by teaching them to rely on themselves.

On the other hand, it could be argued that students can gain these skills and qualities without leaving home. Furthermore, many families simply cannot afford the costs involved in supporting a child who studies away from home, and many students are unable to take on these expenses themselves.

All things considered, students who have the option of studying in another city or country, but who choose to remain with their families during their student years, are probably missing out on valuable character-forming experiences. Of course, not everyone has the resources to leave home at an early age. But if the opportunity presents itself, why pass up the chance to learn lessons from real life?

Introduction

The aim of this report is to suggest ways of improving the services of Newtown Public Library, so that it can attract more young people to use it.

New activities

Firstly, the library needs to offer some new activities. For example, cinema nights or book discussion clubs could interest young people in going to the library.

New services

Youth today are becoming increasingly involved with technology and if the library were to offer Internet services, and a CD and DVD lending service to its members, it would certainly draw a large number of young people.

Additional book sections

The library needs to keep up with the reading needs of young people. Therefore, it would be a good idea to introduce a section which offers the latest fashion, computer and music magazines. Another suggestion would be to create a book section which would hold books by the writers young people find most popular.

Conclusion

All in all, the introduction of new activities, such as clubs and events, and new services, such as the Internet and new book sections, would make the library especially appealing to youths.

Today, more and more people decide to go abroad in order to attend college or university. However, this is a choice that offers both advantages and disadvantages.

One major advantage of studying abroad is the fact that students get to experience a whole new way of life. They come in contact with a culture different to their own, and have to get used to the customs and habits of their host country.

However, studying abroad does not come without its disadvantages. A major drawback is the fact that people who go to a foreign country to study may feel lonely. Being away from their friends and families, they are quite likely to miss the comfort and familiarity provided by those close to them.

All things considered, studying in a foreign country can certainly be the experience of a lifetime, provided the person who takes such a decision can get accustomed to being away from home and making new friends. I believe it is a valuable experience.

Dear Sir/Madam,

I am writing to express my dissatisfaction with the services offered by your hotel during my stay there from 15th to 23rd June, this year.

Unfortunately, there were a number of problems. First of all, in your advertisement you claim that the hotel is “just minutes” away from the beach. In fact, it took us and other hotel guests thirty minutes to walk to the beach. Not only that, but when we finally got there we were shocked to see that it was full of rubbish.

As for the room, though your advertisement stated that every room had a view of the ocean, ours overlooked the hotel’s busy and noisy car park. In addition, the four-star hotel restaurant that you advertised was closed for renovations. Moreover, when we tried room service, we found that no one would answer the phone at the reception desk after 11 pm, even though the hotel supposedly has twenty-four hour room service. All in all, I am extremely disappointed, and feel I am entitled to a partial refund of the money I paid you. I look forward to your reply.

Yours faithfully,
 Christopher Johnson.

Nowadays, so many options are available to food shoppers that the consumer must make a difficult choice between shopping at large supermarkets or buying from a variety of smaller shops and markets. Clearly, both choices offer benefits and drawbacks.

Perhaps the greatest appeal of shopping at a supermarket is that so many items are to be found under one roof. This convenience saves time for shoppers with busy lives. Another advantage of supermarkets is their competitive prices. But smaller shops offer benefits as well. For example, goods sold by local greengrocers and butchers are often fresher and of a better quality than what is found in supermarkets. Also, by frequenting smaller shops, consumers support their local economy, giving business to independent merchants rather than to large corporations.

But there are also disadvantages to both. Supermarkets are impersonal and provide a hurried, unfriendly atmosphere. Also, it is often difficult for shoppers to find specialty items at a supermarket. And local shops, while offering a pleasant atmosphere, take up more of a shopper's time. For example, the shopping done in two hours at local shops can be done one hour at a supermarket.

Taking everything into consideration, it seems that consumers must choose depending on what they feel is most important. Those shoppers who value convenience and low prices will naturally prefer supermarkets. But those who wish to support local businesses, and who value familiarity and food quality, will probably remain loyal to a variety of smaller shops.

Test 1 – Listening Comprehension

(young woman)

Growing up with two brothers and four sisters was a curse and a blessing at the same time.

A good thing was that there was always someone to talk to and play with. And having two older sisters also meant that I was never short of clothes and accessories I could borrow, which was great! However, there were practical disadvantages to living with so many people. One of them was sharing the bathroom. I remember that in the mornings when I had school, the only way to be ready to leave at eight thirty was to beat my siblings to the bathroom. And that meant getting up as early as half past seven! Another thing I remember is that our house was always very noisy. Funnily enough, we didn't really argue with each other, but when we all gathered together and started talking you needed to shout if you wanted to make yourself heard. Dinnertime for our parents was more about trying to keep us all quiet than enjoy a meal. We were at our loudest then! I do miss it, though. Now that we're all busy adults we only get to see each other on family occasions, like birthdays or weddings. But even now, we can still be as loud as we used to be when we were kids!

Test 2 – Listening Comprehension

Interviewer (male)

I asked some young people to share with me how they've helped a friend in need. Here's what they had to say.

Speaker 1 (teenage girl)

I don't like going to parties... it's not for me... but my friend Lucy does. Last week, Lucy got an invitation to a birthday party. The problem was that she couldn't go because her parents wouldn't let her go alone. Naturally, I offered to go with her. I mean, she's my best friend and I didn't want her to miss out on something she'd have really liked. I know she'd do the same for me!

Speaker 2 (teenage girl)

My best friend has many talents but maths is not one of them. When I saw him struggling to do his maths homework, I offered to help. I didn't give him the answers but I gave him some hints to help him solve the problems on his own. He felt so proud that he had managed to complete the assignment!

Speaker 3 (teenage boy)

It was the first day of school and one of the older students was picking on my friend because of his height. I'm very tall for my age, so I went up to the boy and looking down at him said: "Why don't you pick on someone your own size?" The bully said nothing and ran away!

Speaker 4 (teenage girl)

I knew my friend's parents were getting a divorce, but I didn't know how badly it was affecting her until I saw her crying after school. As we walked home together I told her that she could talk to me about anything and that I'd be there for her. With that, she wiped away her tears and started to smile.

Speaker 5 (teenage boy)

During a test, one of my friends tried to look at my paper since she hadn't studied. I continued with the test and hid my answers. After class I could see she was furious. I went up to her and said that if she needed help studying for the next one, I'd be glad to lend her a hand. She apologised and thanked me for the offer.

Speaker 6 (teenage girl)

My friend Jody is concerned with helping the homeless. She feels it is an important cause. So I got several teenagers together and we went with her to volunteer at the local shelter. It was such a rewarding experience for all of us!

Test 3 – Listening Comprehension

Speaker 1 (middle-aged woman) I know the work they do for the homeless is fantastic, and they do raise a lot of money to help but, really, I would never buy anything from there. I'd like to, but I'm not keen on buying something second-hand when I can find what I want somewhere else brand-new. I'm not saying the shop should close down though!

Speaker 2 (middle-aged man)

I know that young people today are busier than my generation used to be. Their schoolwork is more demanding, and there's extra pressure to go to university or college. But this doesn't mean that they shouldn't help out their parents, though. I mean, if they organise their schedules better, they can find a couple of hours in the day to help out with the housework or even get a part-time job, so they can have their own money.

Speaker 3 (middle-aged woman) I'm sure some people find credit cards useful at times when they need to spend more money than they have. But everyone I know that has a credit card finds it difficult to pay it off. I think our lives would be easier if this plastic temptation didn't even exist!

Speaker 4 (teenage girl)

When the envelope containing my exam results arrived, I couldn't have been more anxious. I was sure I hadn't passed at least half of my exams and that I'd got terrible marks in the rest of them. What would I tell my parents? But when I opened the envelope, I was far from disappointed. I had received top marks for all my exams!

Speaker 5 (teenage boy)

The money I get from working in the cafe is really good. My parents couldn't afford to give me more pocket money, so they suggested I get a part-time job. At first I didn't want one. I thought it would be really tiring going to work after school, but now I wouldn't have it any other way.

Speaker 6 (young man)

The interview was going really well until he asked about my previous experience, and then I just didn't have anything to say. All my friends had told me to lie about it, but I told him honestly that I had never had a job before. In the end he told me he really appreciated my honesty and that I could start working for them as soon as I could! Can you believe it?

Test 4 – Listening Comprehension

In the UK alone, there are more people rushing to accident and emergency for fall-related injuries than any other cause, and most of these injuries take place in the home. In addition, adults over the age of sixty-five and children under fourteen are at a greater risk of injury. However, falls are quite often predictable and preventable. Falls in the home are commonly caused by slipping or tripping. Fortunately, there are steps we can take to make our home a safer place to live in. To start off, floors should always be kept clean and dry, and make sure never to leave toys lying around the house on the floor or on the stairs. This could very well be a recipe for disaster.

If you have to use a ladder, make sure that it is steady and stand at a safe level. It's also a good idea to keep things you use on a regular basis on low shelves, so that you don't have to get up on a chair to reach them. Use non-slip carpets on the stairs and non-slip mats in showers and on bathroom floors. Keep stairs protected with a handrail on each side of the staircase, and safety gates at the top. Staircases should also be well-lit during the night. It's a good idea to also put night lights in bathrooms and in hallways. Last but not least, if you have a lamp or telephone wire that is sticking out of the wall, it's best to tuck it away behind a piece of furniture.

In a nutshell, it is important that we identify a potential danger in the home and take action before it's too late.

Test 5 – Listening Comprehension

Sam: Hi, Tom. You look upset. What's the matter?

Tom: Oh, hi, Sam, I went to the office at ten today, and I'm supposed to start at nine! And it's not the first time this has happened.

Sam: Did you have car trouble? I know you've been meaning to take it to the garage.

Tom: Even worse! I was stuck in traffic again. It took me an hour just to get through the city centre. I just can't put up with it any more!

Sam: Why don't you use Shared Wheels, then?

Tom: What's that? A new bus service?

Sam: Actually, it's a car sharing service. What happens is that you and other people travelling in the same direction every day go in one car. In this way, there are fewer cars in the street, which means less traffic.

Tom: It sounds interesting, but that would mean getting into a car with complete strangers every day! I'm not sure I like the idea of that!

Sam: Really? It wouldn't really bother me. I mean, I know I walk to work, but if I had to drive, I'd see Shared Wheels as an opportunity to meet new people!

Tom: Well, I'm still not totally convinced. But I will go online and see what else I can find out about the programme.

Sam: Good idea. They have a really informative website.

Check it out.

Tom: I will. Thanks, Sam.

Som: Don't mention it!

Test 6 – Listening Comprehension

Interviewer (male)

I spoke to some people to find out what they thought about all the celebrity coverage in the media.

Speaker 1 (female)

I, for one, believe that there is too much talk of celebrities in the news. I don't understand why the general public wants to know about the lives of stars. They are just people, like you and me... the only difference is that they have more money to go on holiday!

Speaker 2 (male)

There is so much celebrity coverage in the media, because that is what people want to hear... there is a high demand for it. If people didn't tune in to hear the latest gossip or read about what happened to one star or another, then there wouldn't be as much.

Speaker 3 (female)

I love reading about the stars but I think the press has gone too far. They should respect the privacy of celebrities. Getting involved in their personal lives is wrong. Tougher laws are needed to stop the gutter press from interfering in their lives.

Speaker 4 (male)

I can't get enough of celebrity coverage in the media. I'm a big movie fan, so I want to know all about the stars on the big screen. Everyone enjoys hearing a bit of gossip every so often, and I don't think that there is anything wrong with that. After all, it's the price celebrities have to pay for being famous.

Speaker 5 (female)

I agree there is too much celebrity coverage in the news but people can certainly choose what they want to watch. Personally, I simply change the channel if I'm not interested in the latest celebrity scandals.

Speaker 6 (female)

For some, tuning in to celebrity news is a way of escaping the pressures of everyday life.

Hearing about the famous helps people dream about a life of riches. I understand but... I'm not interested in hearing about celebrities, not one bit.

Test 7 – Listening Comprehension

Throughout the day, visitors will have the chance to take a tour of the campus and attend hourly talks given by senior academic staff at Henry Hall. Those wishing to book a place at Brinpine College Open Day should contact the College secretary on all weekdays except Friday by phone at double five, double two, four hundred, or via email at info@brinpine.co.uk.

Test 8 – Listening ComprehensionSpeaker 1 (woman)

Spending the weekend at the country house was perfect when I was younger, but now I've grown rather tired of it. For me, an ideal weekend away involves going to popular nearby locations and taking in new scenery. Of course, it'd be great if I had the money to jet off to the cosmopolitan capitals of Europe every other week, but I suppose that won't be happening any time soon.

Speaker 2 (man)

Bangkok must be one of the best places I've ever visited. I had the chance to see the city during a three-day stopover on my way to Melbourne. I'd never expected it, but Thailand's capital turned out to be a tourist's paradise! So fascinated was I by the Asian culture, I've decided that my next destination will be Beijing, another great culture capital in Asia.

Speaker 3 (woman)

When I agreed to join my friends on a five-day trip to a remote island in the Mediterranean, I never expected to have such a great experience. Being an island of few inhabitants, it sounded like a terribly boring place. But the truth is that we found so many things to do there that we barely had a moment's rest! What truly amazed me, though, was the ease with which the locals struck up conversation with us, or offered to show us around the island. It was as if they'd known us for years!

Speaker 4 (teenage boy)

I'm happy to join my parents and my younger sister on family trips, but I'm also at an age where I need to spend some time off with my friends too. Mum and Dad think that going on holiday with them has become a boring routine for me, but nothing could be further from the truth. Perhaps, on our next trip, I could bring a couple of friends along. Then we'd all be happy!

Speaker 5 (man)

Everyone is excited at the idea of a foreign holiday, but not many of us are crazy about all the preparations. Yet a reliable travel agent and good organisational skills on your part will make holiday planning much easier for you. Of course, it's important to do a bit of reading on the traditions and habits of your chosen destination, so you don't find yourself experiencing a culture shock!

Speaker 6 (woman)

Whenever I travel by plane, I always make sure that I allow myself a little extra time to do some duty-free shopping at the airport. Although many of them have a limited range of goods compared to shops in the city, their low prices are certainly appealing. My brother says they're great for last-minute shopping, but for me duty-free shopping is just an opportunity to buy my favourite perfume and nice souvenirs at almost half price.
